5. Code of Ethics

What is not acceptable?

Any offer made, directly or indirectly, any form of gift, entertainment or anything of value to any Third Party with a purpose or intention to:

- a. Obtain or retain business;
- b. Influence business decisions; or
- c. Secure an unfair advantage

None of the individual(s) covered under this Policy shall:-

- a. Accept an offer of a gift, entertainment or anything of value (whether directly or indirectly) of any size from any Third Party which is in negotiation with, or is submitting/ has submitted a proposal to the Company with respect to any commercial transaction.

- e. Threaten or retaliate against, another employee who has refused to commit a bribery offence or who has raised concerns under this Policy.
- f. Engage in any activity that might lead to a breach of this Policy.

The points stated above are illustrative in nature and in no way intend to limit the applicability of the code.

Gifts and Hospitality:

In connection with certain holidays, meetings and other occasions, it is customary in many parts of the world to give gifts of nominal value to customers, government officials and other parties who have or may have a business relationship with the Company.

This policy does not prohibit normal business hospitality and offering gifts, so long as it is reasonable, appropriate, modest, and bona fide corporate hospitality, and if its purpose is to improve our company image, present our products and services, or establish cordial relations.

Gifts and Hospitality:

- Must be duly approved: Normal business hospitality must always be approved at the appropriate level of Company management.
- Must not be intended to improperly influence: One should always assess the purpose behind any hospitality or entertainment. Hospitality or entertainment with the intention of improperly influencing anyone's decision-making or objectivity, or making the recipient feel unduly obligated in any way, should never be offered or received. It should always be considered how the recipient is likely to view the hospitality. Similarly, one must also decline any invitation or offer of hospitality or entertainment when made with the actual or apparent intent to influence their decisions.
- Must not have the appearance of improper influence: Gifts can in some cases influence, or appear to influence, decision-making, for example by persuading the recipient to favour the person who made the gift over his own employer. Employee should think very carefully before making, or receiving, gifts. Gifts can occasionally be offered to celebrate special occasions (for example religious holidays or festivals etc.) provided such gifts are of nominal value and are occasional, appropriate, totally unconditional, and in-fitting with local business practices. No gift should be given or accepted if it could reasonably be seen improperly to influence the decision-making of the recipient.
- Certain gifts are always prohibited: Some types of gifts are never acceptable including gifts that are illegal or unethical, or involve cash or cash equivalent. Furthermore, by way of non-exhaustive example, an invitation to his/her family to join him on a foreign business trip, or the extension of a trip at the customer's expense to include a holiday, are at all times unacceptable, and employees should not participate in such practices.
- Modest promotional gifts are permitted: It is acceptable to offer modest promotional materials to contacts e.g. branded pens. Use of one's position with the Company to solicit a gift of any kind is not acceptable. However, the Company allows associates occasionally to receive unsolicited gifts of a very low intrinsic value from business contacts provided the gift is given unconditionally and not in a manner that could influence any decision-making process.
- Personal payment strictly not advisable: One should never pay on his/her personal account for gifts or hospitality in order to avoid this policy.

In some cultures / countries, it may be seen as an insult to reject a gift, and refusals may adversely affect business relationships. In these circumstances, and if the gift is anything other than moderate, the gift should be reported to the reporting manager who will decide whether such gift will be retained or returned. If your reporting manager is uncertain how to treat the gift, s/he should seek clarification from the Ethics Committee.

Gifts & Hospitality can put the Company at risk if used to facilitate unethical business practices. The Company has developed procedures for giving and receiving gifts and hospitality which will seek to ensure that individuals act ethically and otherwise comply with the Anti-Corruption and Bribery Policy and Code of Ethical Business when giving and receiving gifts and / or hospitality. These procedures will be followed by associates.

Facilitation and Kickbacks

Neither an employee of Company nor any person acting on behalf of Company shall themselves make and/ or accept facilitation payments or “kickbacks” of any kind nor allow third parties acting on their behalf or on behalf of the Company, such as agents, consultants, suppliers and contractors to make any such payments.

Any activity that might lead to or suggest that a Facilitation Payment or Kickback will be made or accepted by Company, must be avoided absolutely.

Political Activities

The Company is apolitical, advocates government policies on sustainability and does not contribute financially or in-kind to political parties, politicians and related institutions in India or abroad.

All the employees of the Company are strictly prohibited from making any political contribution or indicate any representation of about a candidate for office or any political cause or decision of any government on behalf of Company, use any of Company’s resources to assist a candidate or elected official in any campaign or coerce or direct another employee to vote a certain way.

The Company expects all Third Parties doing business with Company to approach issues of bribery and corruption in a manner that is consistent with the principles set out in this Policy.

Every employee shall strive to ensure healthy relationships with the customers, competitors, suppliers, distributors and resellers.

The purpose of these offset commitments is to invest in the country and create local jobs. Similarly, a government in a country or a particular state giving a grant or other facilities to Company may require preference to be given to the residents of such country or state in any hiring. All these transactions per se do not violate this Policy. In case there is an iota of doubt regarding any violation of this Policy at any stage of the transaction, employees are strongly encouraged to connect with the Ethics Committee.
